

A close-up photograph of two brown calves in a wooden stall. The calves are facing each other, with their heads touching and noses nearly touching. They are looking directly at the camera. The stall is made of light-colored wood.

Share your love, not your germs.
If you are ill, please visit another time.